The screenshot shows the FAO portal's interface for African Swine Fever. At the top, there's a navigation bar with tabs for 'Home', 'About', 'Prevention/Control', 'Outbreaks', and 'Resources'. Below this, a main banner features a pig and the text 'ASF SITUATION UPDATE'. To the left, a sidebar contains navigation links like 'Home', 'About', 'Prevention/Control', 'Outbreaks', and 'Resources'. The main content area is divided into 'Current news' and 'Key messages'. The 'Current news' section lists several updates with dates and brief descriptions, such as 'Keeping banana sales from African Swine Fever' and 'New ASF situation in the Republic of Guinea'. The 'Key messages' section highlights 'ASF situation in the Republic of Guinea' and 'ASF situation in the Republic of Guinea'.
