Forty experts from all over the world, representing both the public and private sectors, met in Paris last month to provide consultation on the OIE guidelines for public-private partnerships (PPP) in the veterinary domain.

The output of the meeting informs the development of the OIE PPP Handbook, to be released at the 87th General Session of the World Assembly of the Delegates of the OIE in May 2019. This document and related dissemination activities will provide support to both public and private organisations with an interest in collaborating to strengthen veterinary services.
